

80 Prayers for Pardon.

extenuate and lessen my Sins: I freely confesse them, I have done exceedingly amiss, I call it often to mind, and I condemn myself for it.

XVI.

SPare me, O God, and accept the Sacrifice of a broken Spirit, a contrite Heart, a troubled Mind, a wounded Conscience, and an afflicted Soul; because I have sinned against Thee.

XVII.

WILT Thou have Pity upon some,
and hast Thou made all

others for nought? Shall thine Enemy say, Thou hast made us to kill us, or because thou hatest us,
or that thou canst not,
or wilt not save us?

XVIII.

FEAR be this from Thee: But remember this, O Lord, how the Enemy hath reproached thee, and how the foolish People have thus blas-phemed thy Name.

XIX.

FOR what shall then become of thy great Name, of the Richness of thy Mercy, which is over all
